Don't Forget Pond Dangers

by R. A. McClenny, Jr.

Now that winter is here be sure to keep in mind that there is a danger to life, both human and livestock, when your pond is frozen over. Cattle and hogs bunch up until their weight breaks through the ice. There have been many instances of this type loss. Livestock should be excluded from ponds during winter months.

Children should be permitted to skate on ice only with adult supervision and after the ice has been checked out.

As simple as these things seem, nearly every year, someone forgets.
